Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 02 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Unsettled with outbreaks of rain and a gusty wind.

Today:
It will be rather cloudy with blustery winds and outbreaks of rain feeding across the country from the southwest, some of that rain possibly heavy. Somewhat drier and less windy weather is likely to arrive later in the day. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Many areas will have a dry evening and night with clear spells. However, showers are likely especially in the west, and the wind will gradually strengthen again too. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Sunday:
Eastern parts will start Sunday mostly dry and bright. However, showers will already affect the west, and these will break out more widely during the day, turning heavy and blustery. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday will bring sunny spells, scattered showers and a cooling breeze. Some very wet and windy weather is likely on Tuesday, ahead of a mostly fine day on Wednesday.
